

ENGLISH-YOGOTE DICTIONARY

Xabier Prado

This English-YoGoTe Dictionary holds a selection of 600 universal signs, to be used at schools for the international communication proposal known as YoGoTe.

These signs are associated with a basic vocabulary of 2400 words. You will find in the dictionary some words written in black letters, they correspond to the original meanings of the universal signs. Other words are written in normal letters, and they correspond to additional meanings that are only to be used at schools.

The signs are written by means of their signograms. Those are characters made by several lines, that are very easy to copy on paper. They can also be deciphered without difficulty in order to make the signs in the space with the own hands. If you don't find some word, please look after other words with a similar meaning.

THE NECESSARY INFORMATION CAN BE FOUND AT INTERNET:

www.yogote.net

With help of this web, you can do (totally free) the following further applications, that are graded in several levels:

FIRST LEVEL: Making the gesture corresponding to a given word.

In the web you will find this same dictionary with the possibility to see a video recording for every sign.

SECOND LEVEL: Writing texts with accompanying universal signs.

You can do it manually, because the signograms are not difficult to copy, or else you can download from the web the Fonts named YOGOTE. They allow you to introduce the signograms automatically in any text program.

There is in the web a section named Experiences where you can see and download videos of school activities with songs, poems, etc, that were made with universal signs at all the school levels.

They can give you some hints on how to introduce universal signs at your own activities.

THIRD LEVEL: Introduction to foreign languages with texts in their original versions.

This dictionary is complemented by another one, named YoGoTe-English Dictionary, that can be also downloaded from the same web.

With its help you will be able to decipher the meaning of texts that are written in other languages, provided that they are accompanied by universal signs.

That makes it possible to use texts (songs, poems, sentences or simply words) in other languages without the need to translate them.

You can find examples of texts in many different languages at the same web.

FOURTH LEVEL: Exchanging texts with people from all over the world.

In the web there will be a net of people from different countries, who explain in which activities they are willing to take part.

Each one will offer to the whole world texts (made by themselves or by others) representing the own culture, values, ideas, etc, and he/she can receive the texts that they need to know directly the different realities existing in the world.

¡ You can take part at this net!
